THE JOANA GREVERS FOUNDATION CETATE ARTS DANUBE - SCULPTURE PARK

The Joana Grevers Foundation was established in 2008 by the art historian and physician Dr. Dr. Joana Grevers.

Every summer, since then, in the proximity of the Danube, a space of artistic confluence and creation becomes alive. Artists from different countries, generations and artistic fields gather in Cetate to create freely, inspired by the magnetic beauty of the region in a growing art movement that covers painting, sculpture, drawing, photography, land art and video. The works often seem to be related to the Druga Family Estate venues and the Danubian landscapes.

Deeply involved in the Romanian contemporary art scene, the Foundation is mainly focused on promoting Romanian contemporary artists, both emerging and established, as well as strongly supporting the development and integration of rural areas in the national and European cultural heritage.

The Foundation organizes events and cultural activities such as Artists in Residency programs, exhibitions, symposia, conferences, publishes art books and develops cultural programs both in Romania and abroad. It also sustains cooperation between institutions and similar organizations, both national and international, and maintains relations with them.

Cetate Arts Danube – Sculpture Park was created during the last ten years, by national and international artists, with the constant support of the Foundation.

'The vision of the Joana Grevers Foundation upon this generous place, on so many levels, has the desire, not only to present Romanian contemporary art in a professional way, but also to create the proper environment for art-making and art promoting. This place is thought to be part of the Danubian tourism and to be included on the venues map for travelers on the Danube, thus transforming a former agricultural place into a space of culture and touristic attraction' - My Art Guides, July 2016.
